Hi Danny
No way. I've landed few hours ago. After 3 weeks out. It'll take at least a week.

Wow. Someone went on a major fishing expedition to find every possible way to show only good stuff without any perspective or completeness. I have never seen anything quite like this before.

I don't know if all of the facts are true, but most probably are. The humorous aspect – if there is one – is that he was so busy ignoring the really problematic core issues that his collection of good things does not even include the really important good stuff that actually gives hope that we may be able to turn things around one day.

I will be happy to meet with you and show the more complete picture (to paraphrase the movie title: the good, the bad and the scary).

Any chance that you might be able to meet tomorrow afternoon or Thursday at around noon?

Dani

Hi Dan
This is running wild on the web.
I wonder if that's a serious person/institute and whether it's basically accurate.
Pl call me after having a look into it.
Moran will take care of a meeting.
